Be sure to check that the course you decide to take will be suited for where you want to work.Accessing the CourseUse a personal computer, tablet or smartphone to access the course after paying a registration fee. Most provinces and territories across Canada require food service businesses to employ Certified Food Handlers or to enrol their current staff in a Food Handler Certification Course. Depending on the program, the online course you take is usually a short one at around 75 minutes. Fees can range from as little as $10 to upwards of $500. Your Food Handlers final exam is comprised of 50 questions designed to test your knowledge of important food safety concepts, such as: food contamination / food spoilage food allergens and allergen management cross-contamination personal hygiene causes of food-borne illness potentially hazardous foods / high-risk foods proper food storage, preparation and cooking techniques time and temperature control To help you prepare for your final exam, the Canadian Institute of Food Safety (CIFS) has created a quick, free Food Handlers practice test comprised of questions from the CIFS Food Handler Certification Course.
